WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 26, 1862.

Boise Mines.

It will be seen by reading the correspondence in to-day's paper, that our friend Wm. Daly, Esq., did not receive a very favorable impression of the Boise river mines—an account of which he gives at length from visit and prospecting tour recently made to these mines in company with some hundred others. This is the first discouraging account that we have seen since the discovery of these mines, and was it not for the well known reputation of our friend as a gentleman of truth and veracity, and also possessing considerable experience in mining operations, we would be led to doubt the correctness of his story, from the fact that all other reports from these mines, both by parties who say they have been there, as also accounts published in the upper country papers agree in representing them as exceedingly rich and sufficiently extensive to furnish employment for perhaps thousands of miners. That gold in considerable quantities has already been taken out of these mines, we have too much evidence to doubt, and that prospects have been found sufficiently flattering to induce hundreds not only to go there but to winter there, is also clearly proven by statements from numerous sources and of reliable character.

We know that experience in all other mines has demonstrated the fact that first accounts of their discovery are always somewhat exaggerated, and that hundreds and thousands of adventurers who go to them return "strapped" even worse than Mr. Daly says he and his party were, yet notwithstanding these facts, hundreds and even thousands realize fair profits for their labor, and occasionally obtain fortunes where others have passed over and decided the prospect not worth the trouble of testing. The experience of every one who has worked any length of time in the mines, will bear us out in the assertion that cases frequently occur where a miner has worked for days and perhaps weeks on his claim without realizing sufficient to pay for his "grub" and giving it up as a hopeless task, sells out for little or nothing to another miner who perhaps the very next day strikes a rich lead and obtains a fortune within a few weeks. Such is the experience of all mining countries. We have heard of hundreds, who had the reputation of experienced miners and thorough-going, energetic men, taking up claims and working them for a few days, and failing to find the gold in large quantities, leave or desert them for others, who afterwards make their fortunes out of the same spot of ground. Mining in all countries is very much like a lottery, and success depends greatly upon luck, though we admit the fact that no man, however lucky he may be, can always succeed without using some energy or efforts to test his luck.

Believing the above statements to be true in this instance, we conclude that notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Daly and party prospected the country sufficient to satisfy themselves of its poverty, still other parties may hereafter find rich diggings, perhaps within a few feet of the identical spot tested by them. There is another fact which should be taken into consideration, and that is, Mr. Daly in his own statement acknowledges the fact that he did not prospect the country but a day and a half, or at most not more than two days, and our own experience in such matters warrants us in saying that a judgment based upon such hasty examination is liable to be set aside by after and more thorough investigation. We still have hope that these mines will prove all and even more than they are at present represented to be. We know that there is gold in that upper region of country,—immense quantities of it have already been brought down, and we believe that still greater amounts will continue to come down as each year's explorations and developments shall extend and increase.

REMOVED.—By private letter received yesterday from Olympia, we learn that news had been received of the removal of Hon. L. Jay S. Turney, Secretary of Washington Territory, from that office, and the appointment of Elwood Evans, Esq., in his stead. We have no doubt that this news falls with greater weight upon Mr. Turney and his particular friends, than did the removal of McClellan upon the people of California, which, according to the Bulletin's description, fell like a hammer upon their heads. The removal in this instance has fallen like a ton weight upon ex-Secretary Turney and certain friends who had staked their all upon his position, and the hope that he would be able to hold the Secretaryship against all opposition. It is a regular old crusher, a perfect smasher, a sudden clap of thunder from the great head of the nation, which crumbles the whole edifice of future success erected by himself and friends into nothingness—a perfect annihilator. The bubble has bursted, down goes the "apple cart," and the high aspirations and fond hopes of himself and friends have all vanished into thin air. Thus ends the brief but brilliant career of another Federal appointee for Washington Territory. Verily, they have their "ins" and their "outs."

We further learn that the people of Olympia had a gay time rejoicing over the news; guns were fired, torch light processions, illuminations, bonfires, pyrotechnical displays, champaign and oyster suppers, dancing, serenades, speeches, more champaign and oysters, and winding up with a grand "clam bake," gives, we are informed, but a faint outline of the festivities participated in by the people of Olympia upon the occasion.

As to the immediate cause of the removal of Secretary Turney we are entirely ignorant. Why he should thus be so unceremoniously "ousted" we are at a loss to determine. It is true we knew that a triangular warfare has been going on for sometime between nearly all the appointees of that Territory, and that efforts have been made by each party to procure the removal of the other, still we have yet to hear of any very serious charges made against Mr. Turney which should if sustained by proof, cause such an unceremonious act of condemnation on the part of the Administration; and until we do hear of something more definite and condemnatory, we shall regard the action as unjustifiably hasty. With Mr. Evans we been long acquainted, and as the President has from causes best known to himself seen fit to remove Mr. Turney, we know of no gentleman whom we would have sooner seen appointed than our old friend Elwood Evans. We know he possesses the ability and honesty requisite for the office and we sincerely rejoice with him over his good fortune, and express the hope that he may be allowed to exercise the functions of his office in peace and quietness, that his official acts may redound to the credit of himself, the Territory and the Administration.

Navigation of Snake River.

As has been previously noticed, the people of Lewiston have for some time past been discussing the possibility of navigating Snake river with light draught steamers from that point to Fort Boise. The last number of the Golden Age publishes the following report of an exploring party sent by the citizens, under the direction of Capt. Ankeny of this city, to explore and report upon the practicability of the undertaking, which we deem of sufficient importance and reliability to publish in full, as it contains much interesting news, and fully settles the question:

The party consisted of three reliable men—Charles Clifford, Washington Murray and Joseph Denver—and started from Lewiston under the auspices of Capt. A. P. Ankeny, on the 20th of September. They followed the meanderings of Snake to the mouth of the Grand Ronde, and found the distance to be 27 miles, due South. It is an open river with no obstructions. From Grand Ronde they proceeded to intersect the old emigrant road, and reached it at or near its crossing of Powder river; a short distance further on diverged towards Snake river, and followed it up to Boise. For several miles the river runs through deep canyons or mountain gorges, and has the appearance of being very deep, and shows by the banks that during certain seasons of the year it rises to the hight of sixty feet. The party met several Indians, but none that were unfriendly. A great similarity exists in the whole country between Fort Boise and Lewiston, as does between Lewiston and where Snake river empties into the Columbia. Sometimes bold rocky sides, then beautiful rolling table lands, interspersed with trees and prairie lands. The party passed through some of the most beautiful farming land in the world; deep, rich, dark loam, well watered and well timbered, with gold in all the ravines and guiches for the miner, and soil to provide him with the necessaries of life.

After their arrival at Fort Boise, they proceeded to construct a boat, (or more properly a raft, to navigate the river with. In a few days they were rested and prepared, having taken the precaution to lash their provisions on to the raft, bade adieu to Fort Boise, and came dashing, foaming down the wild, tortuous Snake.

The first canyon of note was twelve miles in length, and here the banks gave indication of the water rising 60 or 70 feet. After this came an open space of eight miles, in which you could observe, for a long distance, the glorious open country. The weather was delightful and the scenery inviting. The next canyon, or gorge, was fourteen miles in length, and penetrated the two ridges of the Blue Mountains. The course seemed to be north, showing that Snake river runs north and south. After passing this canyon there came an open space, alternately changing, but of no perceptible difference. About sixty miles brought them down to the mouth of Salmon, making a distance, as they reckon, of about one hundred miles from Fort Boise to Salmon. From Salmon to Lewiston the distance is inside of forty miles, so that the entire distance from Lewiston to Fort Boise is only one hundred and thirty-five miles!

They found nothing in the river to impede navigation whatever, and pronounced it feasible at any season of the year unless it be by ice. The examination of the river, has resulted in establishing the fact that Snake is navigable for steamers, and will be much safer to travel than the river is from Lewiston to the mouth of Snake.

This is equally gratifying to the projector of the scheme as it is to the citizens of Lewiston, and the country at large. A new route will now be opened for steam, the results of which cannot now be foretold. We shall penetrate Nevada and Utah Territories by steam, as it is well known that it is only 90 miles from Fort Boise to Salmon Falls on Snake river. Salmon Falls is within 250 miles of Salt Lake City. A new avenue of trade will then be opened, and those who have risked their fortunes and periled their lives are justly entitled to the gratitude of the people, and a rich reward shall be their portion. But a few more suns will rise and set before the shrill whistle of the steamer will reverberate along the banks of this noble river, and its echo will be heard for ages yet to come through the ravines, gorges, canons, and on the mountain tops in our golden land, as a symbol of ambition, perseverance, and go-aheadativeness.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—An expedition is being organized on a gigantic scale at Columbus, Ky., the point of rendezvous. It consists of 10 Indiana regiments, 12 Illinois regiments and about 1000 troops now in Kentucky. A fleet of 10 gunboats, carrying 121 guns, accompanies the expedition. They start about the middle of December.

SAILS.—The Pacific sails this afternoon at four o'clock, direct for San Francisco.

THANKS—To Mr. D. Cram, of Wells, Fargo and Co.'s Express, for kind favors.

By Overland Telegraph.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE "OREGONIAN."]

LATER FROM THE EAST.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Correspondence of the Herald from Warrenton, says Gen. Sumner's corps moved to the front on the 15th. They are probably destined for Fredericksburg. The other commands will move as rapidly as possible.

The bridges over Potomac creek are being re-built, and the road beyond Warrenton Junction will be abandoned. Up to last evening, all was quiet in front.

Chas. A. Dana, late editor of the Tribune, has been appointed Assistant Secretary of War, in place of Wikoff, resigned.

Saturday morning, Gen. Bayard occupied Falmouth, opposite Fredericksburg, which was hastily evacuated by the rebels.

All the officers and men captured at Munfreeville, (Ky.,) in September last, numbering 4,000, and all troops captured at Harper's Ferry, have been exchanged.

It is said that Aquia Creek has been held for some days past by our gunboats lying off there—the place having been evacuated by the rebels.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Correspondence from Beaufort (S. C.) states that there was a heavy frost there on the nights of the 8th and 9th of November. This gives hopes of a cessation of the yellow fever.

Latest reports from Harper's Ferry state that Stonewall Jackson was falling back.

The Times' Washington dispatch says, the latest intelligence, believed to be reliable, states that the main body of the rebel army has succeeded in reaching a point between our army and Richmond.

It is reported that the rebel force at Fredericksburg was completely taken by surprise at our rapid advance and the occupation of Falmouth, and barely succeeded in making their escape from Bayard's cavalry.

Washington, Nov. 20th.—At request of McDowell, a court of inquiry has been ordered to assemble to-morrow, to examine charges against him.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20th.—The New Orleans Picayune of Oct. 31st, says 75 refugees from Western Texas has arrived in that city. They state that thousands of Unionists were flocking to Mexico, and that the Mexican towns are filled with Union refugees. Indiscriminate murder of loyal men was going on in several counties.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Latest intelligence from the rebel army says they have been marching into Richmond for several days. None remain except Jackson and Stuart.

NEW TO-DAY.

White's Patent Lever Trusses.—These instruments are recommended to the public as the best ever yet presented The principle is new and different from any other The Pad works over a Knuckle giving it a circular INWARD and UPWARD motion, thus bringing it to oppose that figure with half the pressure required by other Trusses The pain consequent upon heavy pressure is thereby avoided

These Instruments will not rust, and are the lightest, most durable and most cleanly of all others They can be worn at pleasure. Many persons have been cured by them of ruptures of several years standing

The Boise River Mines

AUBURN, Nov 4th 1862

Editors Journal

Having just returned from the mines on Boise river and seeing that they are far overrated in all papers in this State and California I think it my duty to lay before the public the facts in the case in order that they may act understandingly in regard to them In the description I give I think it proper to describe the route we travelled in going there as it will enable those who are somewhat acquainted with the geography of that portion of our State to place the locality of these mines to the best satisfaction

About the 28th of October, a party of us consisting of about fifty men well armed and equipped, started from Auburn for the new El Dorado which we were led to believe surpassed all other mines in richness if not in extent From Auburn we travelled east and on the emigrant road until we struck Snake river from that point we followed the course of the river for about forty miles, crossing it some eight or ten miles to the eastward of where the Malheur river joins the Snake At this point we were joined by about fifty more adventurers and after spending the greater portion of the day in ferrying across, we camped for the night and organized ourselves into a company for mutual protection against the Indians whose territory we were then entering Jeff Standefer was by unanimous consent elected captain and Harvey Morgan, lieutenant The names of the different members of the company were then enrolled and picket guards placed for the first time, which we kept up till our arrival in the mines From this point we travelled a little north of east until we struck the Platte river a distance of some sixteen miles and then up its banks to what is termed the Horse Shoe Bend, a distance of perhaps fifty miles While traveling along this river, we were made aware of the presence of Indians, and were very vigilant in regard to our stock but were never molested in the least We had a parley with four Indians and a squaw but they not being able to speak anything but Snake, were unable to appreciate the good advice we gave them and their name now to us yet remains a mystery One thing, however they will be able to describe to the whites the manner in which we were armed and I think they will be very clear of ever giving any such crowd cause for battle If they do, the Snake nation is doomed From the Horse Shoe Bend our route lay over a high and precipitous spur of mountains, and after toiling all day with our animals, we camped at nightfall at the eastern base of the mountain, about twelve miles distant from the mines We were up betimes in the morning, and every body was making all speed in order to outstrip his neighbor in the race, and be a little ahead so as to secure his claim from among the best I was in the centre of the column and upon my arrival found that the boys of the 'front guard' were busy staking out a town, which in their excited imaginations, would one day become the emporium of this great eastern country Myself and party like the rest, secured a town lot apiece on Front street, and after placing our names upon the respective stakes pitched our tent upon our property and commenced looking around In less than half an hour we all had claims staked out, and the notices duly posted there on After partaking of a hasty and frugal dinner, we all sallied out with pick, pan and shovel, to prospect our claims

Our claims turned out to be the ones which Grimes and his party had prospected in the Summer, and when one of his companions informed us of this fact, we knowing the reports they had circulated, immediately commenced raising "golden castles" in the air, which alas, by the time we reached the "bed rock" had fallen upon and almost crushed us To our utter disappointment and chagrin we could find but from 1 to 5 cents upon the bed rock, and the location of the ground and the scarcity of water admonished us that these would be good claims to starve on Night came and with it big fires appeared, around which were gathered groups whose faces appeared elongated, and now and then that well known sound, "steamboat" would emanate from a group and was re echoed with astonishing unison from one end of the "city" to the other. With the morning we were up, and again out to prospect, and after the day's work we came to the conclusion that we had indeed been sold The "color," as miners term it, could be found everywhere but not in sufficient quantities to pay There is no water but that contained in Grimes' Creek, and that is so flat that it would be a herculean task to raise the water to a sufficient height to be of any service to the miners There had been some few little spots found where a man might make an ounce or so a day for a week or two, but then his claim was worked out. The crowd who first got in there had erected a circular fort, or 'corral,' as the boys called it, composed of stakes erected endwise some ten feet above the service, the joints broken by a second tier of stakes, the whole strengthened by a mound of earth thrown up inside and out to the height of five feet Several apertures for riflemen were visible in different portions of the wall The company pitched their tents within this stockade and were thus situated when I left It is true that they discovered two rich gulches, of very small extent, which they parceled out between them giving to each man about six feet for a claim, out of which they realized about an ounce apiece The principal dust in their possession was Oro Fino and Salmon, which argued badly for the richness of the country At least 75 of our company returned satisfied that there was nothing there to winter for, and to prospect the country east was preposterous at this season of the year, as the creek was already frozen over so that animals could not cross without breaking through

The whole excitement relative to the Boise mines was caused by Grimes' party, who first went there, and in consequence of Indian troubles were forced to leave suddenly without sufficiently prospecting them, but supposed these mines to be rich.

The first party after 'skedaddling' out of the country magnified its richness which they had not tested and other parties hearing of their success concluded to go in and try their hand These were the parties who built the fort, and a goodly portion of them becoming interested in a ferry on Snake river conceived the idea of raising an excitement, which the sequel shows was eminently successful

It is my opinion that good paying mines will be discovered in the ranges lying to the eastward of this point, But the present diggings, at this time would not keep life in a Chinaman, if rice was cheap On my return I met a continuous string of wagons and pack animals, all bound for the mines, and I predict that there will be more money lost than made in that country It will be particularly hard on the poor emigrants who have invested their last cent in an outfit and whose cattle will be too jaded to haul back what they have so foolishly taken to a wild, and I might say unexplored country

If anything of importance relative to this country transpires you may depend upon hearing of it Yours &c,

LEGAL TENDER — A San Francisco paper says

By a communication from Legal Tender Notes with us are all out issues of our Territories at least so far as all our transactions are concerned unless it be in the sparse instance of freight, upon ships arriving from Eastern Atlantic supply ports For freight currency is generally received unless the bills of lading specify as many of them do that they are payable in gold coin For this purpose upwards of $30,000 in Legal Treasury Notes are kept in constant motion As fast as they are paid in the consignees of the vessel put them into the market and they are sold, another vessel arrives and the notes are again and again purchased and sold by those in the business Concerning Legal Tenders we hear of large bills being sent out from New York and Boston to be sold and the proceeds returned in gold In connection with this subject the New York Times has the following which will be read with interest

Much anxiety and fear have been expressed lest Congress shall authorize a further issue of Treasury Notes It is justly contended that such a course would be disastrous to credits and values, and in the end essentially cripple, if it did not destroy the human energies of the Government The notes now issued can be converted if they accumulate in the hands of capitalists and the vaults of the banks, into 6 per cent bonds payable after five and within twenty years at the option of the Government In this view of the case the question can those demand notes be re-issued after conversion, becomes important In order to settle this matter authoritatively we wrote to Hon S P Chase Secretary of the Treasury making inquiries and received an answer dated Oct 17th stating that they are re issued after having been received in payment for the Government loans authorized, as we suppose by the last Congress — Hence no one need fear an increase in our national currency beyond the limits now prescribed by law

"Make your beds early in the morning; sew buttons on your husband's shirts, do not rake up any grievances, protect the young and tender branches of your family; plant a smile of good temper in your face; and carefully root out all angry feeling and expect a good crop of happiness."

An ingenuous youth from the Granite State, now residing at Denver, returned to his lodgings some few nights since in a state of very great independence and exactness

"My friend," asked his wondering companion and room mate, "are you drunk or sober?"

"Well," replied the youth, with the peculiar dignified and oracular manner which only an intoxicated person can assume, "for Pike's Peak, sober, but for New Hampshire, pretty drunk"

A barrister observed to a learned brother in court that he thought his whiskers were very unprofessional "You are right," replied the friend, "a lawyer cannot be too barefaced."

TREATIES

Treaty between the United States of America and the King of Hanover concerning the Abolition of the Stade or Brunshausen Dues Concluded November 6th 1861 Ratifications exchanged at Berlin, April 29th, 1862 Proclaimed by the President of the United States, June 17th, 1862

By the President of the United States of America

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS a special Treaty between the United States of America and his Majesty the King of Hanover, concerning the abolition of the Stade or Brunshausen Dues was concluded and signed by their respective Plenipotentiaries at Berlin on the 6th day of November last which treaty is word for word as follows

Special Treaty concerning the abolition of the Stade or Brunshausen Dues

The United States of America and his Majesty the King of Hanover, equally animated by the desire to increase and facilitate the relations of commerce and navigation between the two countries have resolved to conclude a special treaty to the end to free the navigation of the Elbe from the toll known under the denomination of the Stade or Brunshausen Dues and for that purpose conferred full powers the President of the United States upon Mr Norman B Judd Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States near His Majesty the King of Hanover upon his Majesty the King of Hanover Privy Councillor and Minister Plenipotentiary at the Royal Prussian Court the Lieutenant Colonel and Extra Adjutant Aide de Camp Mr August Wilhelm Von Reitzenstein Knight of many Orders and for the Royal Guelphic Order &c who after having exchanged their full powers and having found them to be in due and proper form have agreed upon the following articles

ARTICLE I

His Majesty the King of Hanover assumes towards the United States of America when ever the case shall occur the obligation—

1 To abolish completely and forever the toll or duty hitherto levied on the cargoes of American vessels ascending the Elbe and passing the mouth of the river called Schwinge, designated under the name of the Stade or Brunshausen Dues

2 To levy no toll of any kind of whatever nature it may be, upon the hulls or cargoes of American vessels ascending or descending the Elbe in place of those dues, the abolition of which is agreed upon in the preceding paragraph

[illegible] hereafter under any pretext [illegible] to effect a commutation [illegible] that [illegible] of the

ARTICLE II

His Majesty the King of Hanover binds himself to cause to be paid to the Government of the United States [illegible] to provide as efficient and to the extent of the existing toll gatherer for the maintenance of the work that are necessary for the free navigation of the Elbe

ARTICLE III

His Majesty the King of Hanover will cause to be paid upon his Majesty the King of Hanover by the American Government the [illegible] of the United States of America engages to pay to His Majesty the King of Hanover [illegible] the said three [illegible] dollars [illegible] in part of the [illegible] of demurrage [illegible] of the United States [illegible] Brunshausen Dues

ARTICLE IV

The [illegible] three hundred and fifty three dollars [illegible] shall be paid at Berlin into the hands [illegible] whom shall have been authorized by His Majesty the King of Hanover to receive it, in the following [illegible] charge of ratifications as here after provided

In consideration of the fact that the stipulations contained in article I and II have mainly been agreed upon by the American Government at first hand, it is understood that the United States of America will cause to be paid to His Majesty the King of Hanover [illegible] the same time with the capital above named the interest of that sum at the rate of four per centum per annum computing from the first day of October 1861

ARTICLE V

The execution of the obligations contained in the present treaty is especially subordinated to the accomplishment of such formalities and rules as are established by the Constitutions of the high contracting Powers, and the compliance with these formalities and rules be brought about within the shortest delay possible

ARTICLE VI

The treaty of commerce and navigation concluded between the United States of America and his Majesty the King of Hanover on the tenth day of June 1846 shall continue to remain in force with the exception of the stipulation contained in paragraph 3 article I which shall cease to have effect after the present treaty shall have been ratified

ARTICLE VII

This treaty shall be approved and ratified and the ratifications shall be exchanged at the city of Berlin within six months from the present date or sooner if possible

In faith whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the above articles, both in the English and German languages and they have thereunto affixed their seals

PROTOCOL

It remains understood that, until the exchange of the ratifications contained in article V and VII of the treaty of to day shall have taken place, the Hanoverian Government shall preserve the right provisionally by way of precaution to maintain the dues which it has agreed to abolish But as soon as the United States shall have fulfilled the stipulations therein mentioned the Hanoverian Government shall order the discharge of that temporary measure of precaution as regards merchandise transported in American vessels Until, however all the Powers parties to the general treaty of the 22d day of June 1861 concerning the abolition of the Stade or Brunshausen dues, shall have fulfilled the engagements conformed in the articles VI and VII of the last named treaty, it shall have power to require of American vessels a proof of their nationality, without thereby causing them a delay or detention

Done at Berlin, the 6th November, 1861

N B JUDD [L S]

WILHELM AUGUSTVON REITZENSTEIN [L S]

And whereas the said Treaty has been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective ratifications of the same were exchanged at Berlin, on the 29th day of April last by Norman B Judd Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States and Wilhelm Von Reitzenstein, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of his Majesty the King of Hanover on the part of their respective Governments

Now, therefore, be it known that I, ABRAHAM LINCOLN President of the United States of America have caused the said Treaty to be made public to the end that the same, and every clause and article thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed

Done in the City of Washington, this seventeenth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty two and of the Independence of the United States the eighty sixth
